in fact, medical guidelines recommend that all women who have been diagnosed with epithelial ovarian cancer, the most common form of ovarian cancer, should be considered for BRCA testing.