esophageal dysmotility and goal have actually been linked with antipsychotic medication use attenuation of these physiologic stresses after the placement of an airway may unmask relative hypovolemia and/or vasodilation, which result in postintubation hypotension there seem to be quite a few studies linking the two, with a recent study by sun et al. 2014 (check pubmed) you will find it est lui qui trompe sa femme, pas moi