using an in vitro bioassay based on the inhibition of the formation of advanced glycation end products (AGEs) copper accumulation in the tissues is associated with Wilson's disease, a genetic abnormality, where symptoms include neurological, psychiatric and those associated with liver dysfunction please note it is also necessary to add the HCPCS code of J1080 ensure you always adhere to the instructions supplied