when integrated into primary health care systems, school settings, and community-based programs, screening can lead to early interventions that can prevent problems from arising.

first of all, there's a big difference between stating your opinion on why you disagree and being a belligerent troll about it.

of her reservations on the condition of anonymity for fear of antagonizing lawmakers while the legislation