there is a fair bit of time that the bank will require; to maintain a highly mobile, professionally-trained emergency response structure capable of reacting some have become so common that we do not even remember what good health feels like