today, college students use the drugs to excel academically our guide said that he now lives in the town, but, like everyone he knows, he and his family return to the desert every year to spend several weeks in a traditional bedouin tent